

THE DAIM

REHEARSING THE FUTURE

RESEARCHING THE FUTURE

design consultancy

research anthropology

23rd FEBRUARY 24th FEBRUARY 2010

How can designers and anthropologists actually boost the innovation process of companies and organisations?

How can companies encourage ordinary people to turn innovation patterns upside down?

How can design consultants strengthen their ability to rehearse the future?

How can universities, design consultancies and companies team up to meet the challenges of user-driven innovation?

We invite you to a mini-conference to discuss these questions taken up in the book REHEARSING THE FUTURE.

The book concludes the DAIM-project, sponsored by EBST and conducted by The Danish Design School, the SPIRE center at SDU, Vestforbrænding and the design consultancies: 3PART, 1508, Sweco, Ergonomidesign and Maketools.

We welcome companies and institutions, design researchers, consultancies and students to take part in the conference:

DAY 1: Emphasis is on re-thinking innovation processes.

DAY 2: The main theme is how to set up research labs, projects and networks that can stimulate such processes.

It is possible to participate either for one or two days.

TUESDAY

Rehearsing the future:

From rehearsals to business, Joachim Halse
It can be done, Dan Boding-Jensen
Will it work in the US?, Liz Sanders

Coffee

Actionable design anthropology

All-in-a-box, Thomas Binder
Roundtable, Mikkel Ask Rasmussen,
Fredrik Ericsson & Johanna Eriksson

Lunch

How to become a DAIM innovator?

The competency challenge,
Trine Paludan
Working for or with companies?
Mikkel Jespersen
Open space: What can consultancy do?

Coffee

We've got models - what's next?

golden projects and other models,
Eva Brandt & international guests
Making it stick and making it work,
Jacob Buur

Book reception

Conference dinner (optional)

09:00

10:30

11:00

12:00

13:00

15:00

15:30

17:00

18:30

WEDNESDAY

Researching the future

Nordic experiences
Visitors challenge researchers to take the next step

Coffee

Sharing prides and concerns

Expanding the network
Open space: labs/projects/networks

Lunch (and goodbye)

Registration: To sign up email nbr@dkds.dk.
Participation costs 300 DKK/ students 100 DKK.
Participants will receive the book REHEARSING THE FUTURE.
The conference dinner costs an additional 300 DKK.

Place: The Danish Design School, Copenhagen
Strandboulevarden 47, Building B, Festsalen